Simple Solution
For Back Fatigue.

Greater comfort where and when you need it most.

With the optional ProBax® technology from MTS, banquet/stackable conference seating gets a leg up on comfort, reducing pressure on the spine and relieving muscle fatigue in the back. The key is in the technology that works to support good posture. It may not bring a swifter end to long-winded speeches, but it will be a breath of fresh air for everyone who has to sit through them.

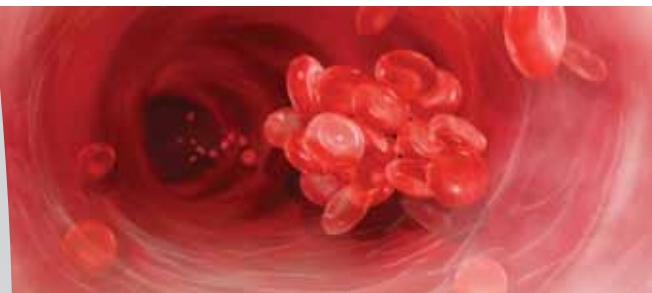

Standard seating vs. ProBax.

ProBax seating technology subtly supports and tilts the pelvis, improving blood and oxygen flow – an advantage that translates into proven health benefits and more sustained alertness over time. That way, seated attendees can retain a sharper focus on the content at hand and less thought on the chairs they're in.

Measurably better blood flow.

Maximum Venous Outflow (MVO) testing – a means for calculating relative blood flow in the lower extremities – has shown that ProBax-infused seating improves vascular performance by an average of 12 to 13 percent. It's the kind of result that's easy for anyone to take comfort in.

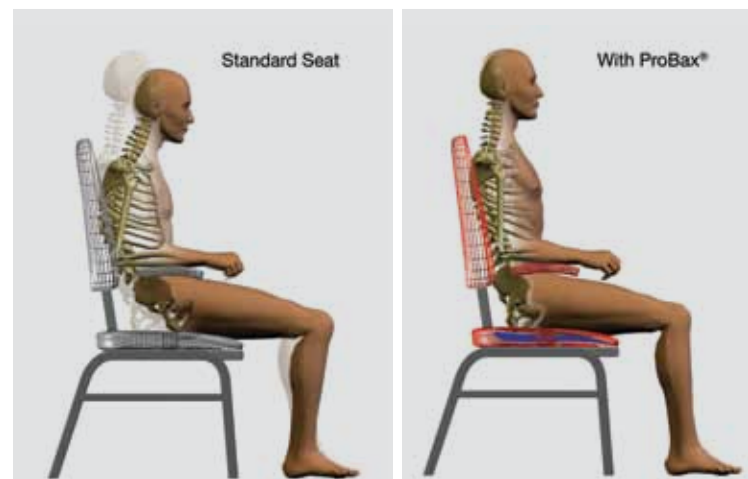

- Increased alertness
- Fatigue reduction
- Decreases in venous pooling
- Improved weight distribution
- Healthier spinal alignment

MTS seating with ProBax is available on the following series:

Note: can be applied to standard or COMFORTweb™ seats. Other MTS models may be available – contact your MTS Sales Coordinator for up to date details.

Traditional seating can cause the pelvis to rotate backward forcing the spine into a "C" shaped kyphotic curve, resulting in slumped posture and premature fatigue.

ProBax enables the spine to adopt its natural "S" shaped lordotic curve. The difference provides a better line-of-sight, along with enhanced lower back support.
