MTS Seating Introduces Stylish New Chair Designs and Series Additions

Temperance, Michigan – May 26, 2009 MTS Seating, the leading supplier of seating for conference and banquet venues in the U.S., and one of the hospitality seating industry's leading names, unveiled three new lines of seating as well as new models of established product lines today at the HD Expo in Las Vegas, Nevada.

"These new products and models reflect our continued focus on developing seating solutions that interior designers and specifiers will find compelling in both design and performance," said CEO Phil Swy. "These introductions add significantly to our hospitality seating lineup and demonstrate our ability to respond to the desires of the market."

The Impilato Series is unique in its design and comfort. Created by Tolleson Saul Design and available in five upholstered, wood and metal back designs, this truly is a stack chair that does not look like a traditional stack chair. The MTS steel-framed construction enables the Impilato to stack 12 high in less than six feet of space, and carries an industry best 12-year structural warranty.

The Moderne Collection is an MTS interpretation of an iconic design. This wood-shell chair is elegant in its simplicity and available in three standard back styles in Beech veneer with eight stain finishes, and 14 optional wood veneer species. Additional custom back designs are also available. Two different base styles offer additional looks that enable nesting up to six high or stacking up to ten high. This series is completed with a 24-inch counter stool and a 30-inch barstool.

The Theta Series is a new, steel-framed stack chair designed with an oval seat to offer an elegant take on stackable banquet seating. This chair is available in four distinct back designs and comes standard with our exclusive COMFORTflex® feature which allows the back to flex as the seated patron adjusts his or her position. Standard with a 12-year structural warranty, the Theta stacks up to ten high.

The Salon Series is one of our most popular lines with a wide range of hospitality applications. This year, MTS is unveiling a dramatic new back design, in three different variations, for this aluminum-framed, seat-on-seat nesting chair. The tapered back shape creates a modern look on a classic chair that can nest seat-on-seat eight high with a standard seat, or ten high with a pullover style seat.

A new Bolero Series back style, with three design variations, is being introduced in response to the reception of the chair which was launched in 2008. The Bolero is distinctive with clean lines and rectangular rear leg and swept-back frame construction. Built with a high-strength, light-weight aluminum alloy, the Bolero chairs nest seat-on-seat up to eight high, and comes with our 12-year structural frame warranty.

"All of the new chairs we are introducing were designed with an emphasis on aesthetic appeal, and engineered with comfort and functionality as priorities," said MTS President Bart Kulish. "In addition, these chair models, as with everything we manufacture, surpass all BIFMA testing standards and come with the industry's best warranties."
